

Judith Anne Dickinson

September 24, 1955 - October 18, 2020

On the morning of Sunday, October 18, Judith Anne Dickinson succumbed to the residual effects of COVID-19 combined with her history of numerous medical conditions.

Known as Judi or Judianne to her friends and family, she was born on September 24, 1955 in Indianapolis, the youngest of five children in the family of Chester and Stella

Mazur. Judi attended Little Flower Catholic School and graduated from TC Howe High

School in 1973 and the Indiana School of Practical Nursing in 1975. She went on to a

20-some-year career as an LPN in hospitals and nursing homes in Indiana and California.

In the early 2000s, Judi decided on a career change and studied medical coding at

Harrison College in Indianapolis, receiving an associates degree in 2008.

During her lifetime, Judi criss crossed back and forth between Indiana and California.

Her residencies included Muncie, IN; Vista, CA; and several communities in the Palm Springs area. She was known to many in the California desert through her work with the former Cadence Communications answering service, which had been owned by her sisters Stefanie Mazur and Linda Taylor.

In recent years, Judi had retired due to multiple medical conditions and lived in Desert

Hot Springs. Her avocation was painting with acrylics, mostly small landscapes. She was also an avid reader.

Predeceased by her sister and best friend, Linda Taylor, Judi is survived by sisters

Carole Orr (husband Ray) and Stefanie Mazur; brother Thomas Mazur; son Lucas

Dickinson (wife Shandy); and daughter Amy Dickinson. She had three granddaughters:

Raven, 7, Charlotte, 6, and Meghan 1.

The family will plan an online celebration of her life via ZOOM in the near future. Please
