She was a Cub master and enjoyed teaching good values and skills through fun activities and events. Those boys would recognize her and come up with their children after many years and express how she had a positive influence in their lives. “ When I was young, I loved to hang out at Grandma and Grandpa's house when there was a family party. I always thought Grandma was a "young" grandma because she was always involved in her grand kids activities like cub scouts, bmx races, etc. She lived life for her grand kids. She also liked to visit with my children whenever we were in town for a visit. Always tried to make sure she came over or we went to her place so she can see Stella and Ava. I will cherish those memories.

I miss you mom every day. So many times I think I need to call mom and check on her. You were loved so much. I hope you're dancing in the sky!❤️
