In the East she traveled to Greece, Italy, Turkey and the Greek Islands. In the USA, National Parks were her favorite places to visit.

After her husband's retirement from the Navy, the family resettled in Moorpark, CA where her husband worked in the satellite operations business. “ I have had the pleasure of knowing Sandy for over 50 years. Those that did not know Sandy in her earlier years truly missed out. She was an excellent friend, sister-in-law, bike riding partner, tennis playing, Frisbee thrower and all around good sport. She also liked her catsup and fries with a Harvey's burger. Sandy had talents that many will never know and was accomplished at just about everything she set her mind towards. She was skilled as an artist and as a teacher. She was a perfect wife for my brother who certainly tested her resolve on more than one occasion. She came through admirably and was a wonderful complement for him. Sandy's biggest fear was that she would succumb to Alzheimers like her father. Unfortunately that fear became a reality and her latter years were quite unpleasant. It is an insidious disease. I know that Sandy is in a much better place now and I am proud to have known her and on occasion been able to help her along in her life. She is already missed and I hope she is visiting with my wife now.
